The introduction presents key definitions, purposes of a program review, scope of the program review process, scheduled five-year program review cycle, basic assumptions, and annual program review time line. The program review process provides an overview and details about the service unit committee, role of the unit coordinator/director, role of the dean, role of the executive vice president, role of the college program review committee, composition of the college program review committee, assessment forms, recommendations on program status, and role of the college president. The service unit report looks at the nature and format of the report, content of the report, service unit objectives, core elements (productivity, need, quality of services), and supporting documentation. Included at the end of this report in the appendices are the service unit report cover page, students served by program components, service trends, need demand checklist, quality of services, end of year report, budget transfer summary, unit plans, assessment and recommendation form, and final assessment and recommendation form. 1. INTRODUCTION

In order to ensure effective and efficient delivery of the support services provided at San Antonio College, it is imperative that a system of continuous review and refinement of its program components be implemented. This review process provides a mechanism through which decisions regarding planning and resource allocations can be made equitably and fairly. It is toward this end that the following program review model of student support services has been developed. Though primarily formative in nature, this model does include some summative evaluation features.

The foundation of the review process is the refinement of services that have value to the students. This review is also linked directly to the Mission Statement of San Antonio College and is part of the overall planning process.

2. THE PROGRAM REVIEW PROCESS

2.1 AN OVERVIEW

Since the review of a program is designed to incorporate assessment and evaluation from many perspectives, the process necessarily involves different levels. The following overview presents the key steps in the procedure.

Level One	SERVICE UNIT COMMITTEE	Prepares report with supporting documents
Level Two	COORDINATOR/DIRECTOR	Prepares and adds summary to the report
Level Three	DEAN	Reviews report and adds assessment form
Level Four	EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT	Reviews report and adds assessment form
Level Five	COLLEGE PROGRAM REVIEW COMMITTEE	Reviews report and adds assessment form
Level Six	COLLEGE PROGRAM REVIEW COMMITTEE	Conducts a hearing with the Service Unit Committee
Level Seven	EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT	Reviews report, adds final assessment form, and submits results to the President.

2.2 SERVICE UNIT COMMITTEE

As the first level, the Service Unit Committee provides the opportunity for the faculty and staff to engage in the self-evaluation of their own program. They can, accordingly, identify its strengths and weaknesses, and suggest pragmatic solutions to any specific problems.

The Coordinator/Director will establish the Service Unit's Committee by selecting members from the unit under review to serve on the Committee. Normally, the Committee shall consist of three members, excluding the unit Coordinator/Director. In cases where there are fewer than three full-time staff members in the unit, appointees may be from cognate units. In cases of extremely large service units, the Coordinator/Director may increase the size of the Service Unit Committee. The Coordinator/Director shall serve as an "ex officio" member of the Committee.

The functions of the Service Unit Committee are:

- a. To gather and analyze data relative to the core elements.
- b. To identify problems relative to the core elements and suggest solutions for the problems
- c. To prepare five copies of the Service Unit's Program Review Report, including supporting documentation, to be delivered to the Unit Coordinator/Director.

2.3 THE ROLE OF THE SERVICE UNIT COORDINATOR/DIRECTOR*

While serving as a working "ex officio" member of the Service Unit Committee, the Coordinator/Director's primary responsibilities in the program review process include:

- a. Acting as a resource person for the Committee.
- b. Reviewing the Program Review report.
- c. Writing a one page summary for the report.
- d. Forwarding one copy of the entire report to the Dean, three copies to the College Program Review Committee, and one copy to the Executive Vice President.
- e. Acting as the official unit representative before the College Program Review Committee when it convenes in an open hearing.
- * If the unit does not have a Coordinator/Director, the Service Unit Committee will fulfill this function.

2.4 THE ROLE OF THE DEAN

The Dean reviews the program from the overall perspective of the particular sub-division. The Dean's specific duties include:

- a. Notifying the service unit that it is scheduled for review.
- b. Reviewing the report and all supporting documentation.
- c. Verifying the Budget Transfer Summary information.
- d. Preparing an assessment form and attaching it to the report.
- e. Sending a copy of the assessment form back to the Service Unit Committee.
- f. Forwarding a copy of the assessment form to the College Program Review Committee and the Executive Vice President.

2.5 THE ROLE OF THE EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

The Executive Vice President reviews a program from the perspective of the chief operating officer of the College. The Executive Vice President's specific duties include:

- a. Reviewing the entire report, with all supporting documentation and the Dean's assessment.
- b. Preparing an assessment form and attaching it to the report.
- c. Forwarding the assessment form to the College Program Review Committee and the Service Unit Committee.
- d. Reviewing the final document including the final College Program Review Committee report.
- e. Conferring with the Coordinator/Director of any program assigned a "Probationary Status", and providing the latter an opportunity to concur, or not, with the final recommended status of the program.
- f. Permitting the Coordinator/Director, if they do not concur, to write a Rejoinder.
- g. Forwarding the results of the review process to the College President.
- h. Notifying/scheduling open hearing with Dean, Service Unit, and College Program Review Committee

2.6 THE ROLE OF THE COLLEGE PROGRAM REVIEW COMMITTEE

The functions of the College Program Review Committee are:

- a. To facilitate and monitor the various program review activities.
- b. To serve as a resource for the various service units.
- c. To ascertain compliance with guidelines and format prior to receiving the finished report. The College Program Review Committee has the authority to refer the report back to the Service Unit Committee for revision.
- d. To review the program review report and all supporting documentation and be certain that assessment forms of all prior levels are attached. The program review process cannot continue without all assessment and recommendation forms.
- e. To conduct an open hearing and arbitrate among possibly conflicting assessments of the Dean, the College Program Review Committee, and the Executive Vice President before reaching a final recommendation on a program's status.

- f. To forward final recommendations to the Executive Vice President and provide feedback to the Deans and departments.
- g. To provide a continuous evaluation of the Program Review process and documentation with the objective of updating and refining it as necessary.

2.7 THE COMPOSITION OF THE COLLEGE PROGRAM REVIEW COMMITTEE

The College Program Review Committee shall consist of five members who serve staggered terms. Its membership will be derived as follows:

- a. The Faculty Senate shall appoint two faculty members. One each will be selected from the Arts and Sciences and the Occupational Technical Education divisions.
- b. Each divisional dean shall appoint one member from their area.
- c. The Executive Vice President shall appoint one member from Student Support Services to the Committee.

In the eventuality that a member of the Committee is also a member of the unit or program undergoing review, such a committee member should refrain from voting on the status of said program but may engage freely in all discussions.

2.8 THE ASSESSMENT FORMS

Levels three through seven in the review process each complete and attach an Assessment and Recommendation Form (see Appendix 4.9) to the report as it proceeds up the line. These forms are in two parts. The first part, the assessment, includes space for identifying the strengths and weaknesses of the program, suggested remedies and other comments.

The second part, the recommendation concerning status, is a series of check-off blocks. Each program undergoing review will be awarded one of three possible recommendations as to its status. A program may be granted satisfactory, conditional or probationary status. The various types of recommended status are explained in the next section.

The Final Assessment and Recommendation Form (see Appendix 4.10) of the College Executive Vice President differs from the others in that it contains check-off blocks so that the Coordinator/Director of a program may concur, or not, with the final recommendation regarding the status of a program. If the Coordinator/Director does not concur, then he/she may write a Rejoinder (similar to the instrument used in personnel performance evaluations).

2.9 RECOMMENDATIONS ON PROGRAM STATUS

Each program undergoing review will be assigned one of the following possible recommendations as to its status:

SATISFACTORY STATUS means there are no serious deficiencies in the program relative to the core elements.

CONDITIONAL STATUS will be assigned when a program is assessed as having one serious deficiency relative to the core elements.

PROBATIONARY STATUS will be assigned when a program is assessed as having two or more serious deficiencies relative to the core elements.

All programs assigned Probationary Status will be reviewed every other year, but not more than three times. If substantial improvement is not noted in its third program review, a program on Probationary Status may be recommended for termination at the end of that current year. All programs which have been in operation for less than three years will be assigned Probationary Status.

2.10 THE ROLE OF THE COLLEGE PRESIDENT

The President reviews a program from the perspective of the chief executive officer of the College. The President's specific responsibilities include:

- a. Reviewing the final Program Review document.
- b. Consulting with the Executive Vice President regarding the recommendations of the College Program Review Committee.
- c. Providing feedback to the College Program Review Committee, Executive Vice President, Deans, and Coordinators/Directors as needed.

3. THE SERVICE UNIT REPORT

3.1 NATURE AND FORMAT OF THE REPORT

The Program Review Report actually consists of two parts: the report proper and the supporting documentation (Appendices). The supporting documentation may include tables, charts, graphs, summaries, and completed forms containing comprehensive data responding to the core elements described below (see Section 3.22). There is no limit on this section other than that determined by relevance to the core elements.

The report proper must summarize the outstanding accomplishments / characteristics, provide important data supplied in the Appendices, identify strengths and problems, and suggest possible remedies from the perspective of the program's faculty and staff. This part of the report is limited to 10 pages and must conform to the following format:

Major Report Sections

A. Summary (Page 3)

B. Background Information

C. Program Description (Pages 4-10)

D. Results

Appendices (documentation)

The SUMMARY, limited to one page, is an abstract of the report. Highlights of the unit's program review process, such as major findings and recommendations, should be presented in a succinct manner. The unit Coordinator/Director shall write the summary.

The BACKGROUND INFORMATION section should discuss the origin and historical development, characteristics of the program, faculty, staff, and student involvement, and especially the goals and objectives of the program. This section is limited to one page.

The focal points of the report are the statement of the program's goals and objectives, and the analysis of the core elements relative to the program's objectives.

3.21 SERVICE UNIT OBJECTIVES

The goals and objectives of each unit for inclusion in the background information, will be presented to the Service Unit Committee by the unit's Coordinator/Director. Care should be exercised in presenting the objectives of the program, since each service unit's objectives will be reviewed in relation to the prescribed core elements.

3.22 CORE ELEMENTS

The core elements are the focal issues of the review process and should be studied both individually and in relation to the goals and objectives of the service unit. Checklists and data forms for the prescribed core elements are provided in the Appendices. The prescribed core elements are listed and described below:

- (2) A review of external and internal audit reports. (as applicable to specific units)

3.3 SUPPORTING DOCUMENTATION

The Appendices contain numerous checklists and forms for the supporting documentation of the program review process. Service Unit Committees must use the prescribed format of these checklists and forms.

Service Units are invited to include any additional information or data which they feel is relevant. All such data should be presented in a succinct and graphic manner. The Service Units may select their own method of presenting additional data. It is recommended that additional data presented include performance measures for the Service Unit's goals and objectives, as well as a status report on its unit plan. If there are any questions concerning the relevancy of additional information, or the manner in which information can be best presented, contact the Dean or the Chair of the College Program Review Committee.
